

A. Student Information

Student's Last Name	First Name	M.I.	Student P#/ People Code ID

The federal government defines dependency status for financial aid applicants. This form is used by a student who is classified as a dependent student based on the answers submitted in Step Three of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) but believes that they should be considered independent due to unusual circumstances.

Federal regulations permit financial aid administrators to make dependency overrides on a case-by-case basis for any student with unusual circumstances. However, federal regulations prohibit the following circumstances (as the reason alone):

- You are financially self-sufficient.
- You do not live with your parent(s).
- You are not claimed as an exemption on your parent's federal income tax returns.
- Your parent(s) refuse to complete the FAFSA, participate in verification or pay for college.
- Your parent(s) live in a foreign country.

Unusual circumstances where an override may be considered (must be documented):

- An abusive family environment (e.g., sexual, physical, or mental abuse or other forms of domestic violence),
- Abandonment by parents,
- Incarceration or institutionalization of both parents,
- Parents lacking the physical or mental capacity to raise the child,
- Parents whereabouts unknown or parents cannot be located,
- Parents hospitalized for an extended period,
- An unsuitable household (e.g., child removed from the household and placed in foster care), and/or
- A married student's spouse dies, or student gets divorced.
- Other unusual circumstances not listed.

If you can document unusual circumstances, complete this form to request your dependency status be changed to independent. The outcome of your appeal depends on the information you furnish to the Office of Financial Aid. Be complete and concise. All information will be held strictly confidential.
